

Brown Bag Seminar Finance – Summer Term 2023

Course Description:

In the Brown Bag seminar, doctoral students and postdocs from the University of Hohenheim our partners present their ongoing work and get feedback from other junior researchers and faculty members. Presented work can either be empirical or theoretical, but should have a finance focus.

Note that the emphasis of this seminar is on informal debate and an exchange of views and ideas. The presentation of preliminary research ideas is just as welcome as the presentation of developed papers. This seminar can also serve as a platform to prepare doctoral students for a conference presentation or for their thesis defense. Finally, we hope that, with this seminar, students and faculty members will have a better notion of the research taking place in our faculty.

Modalities:

The Brown Bag seminar will take place on Thursdays between 12:00 and 14:00 from 25th May until 13th July on campus at the university of Hohenheim in HS B13 Please note that the university's hygiene guidelines must be followed at all times. Immediately after the presentation, each presenter will receive individual feedback on the presentation by the course participants.

Presentation slots are allocated on a first-come-first-serve basis. If you wish to present, we are happy to organize an individual date with you. In this case, please send an email with your preferred dates and the title of your presentation to bank@uni-hohenheim.de.

Also, every year the Stiftung Kreditwirtschaft organizes the Doctoral Finance Workshop Hohenheim. During a two day retreat (usually at a cloister or castle) doctoral students and postdocs can present their research to several participating departments. Since 2015 this is part of the PhD program in finance. A presentation within this format can be counted as a Brown Bag seminar. If you want to be informed about future Finance Workshops, please send an e-mail to info@stiftung-kreditwirtschaft.de to be included in the mailing list.
